

PART 1

Asking the Question or Defining the Problem

The investigation will be on the topic of photosynthesis.
You will be investigating the relationship between light intensity and oxygen production during photosynthesis.

This is a topic, not an actual research question. You will have to take the topic and decide exactly what your variables will be. After you do this, you will be able to write your Research Question.